

30 Serene Bathrooms with Limestone Accents

Posted on: May 18th, 2016

Read about this house

The same Glacier Buff Minnesota limestone that was used on the exterior runs throughout the master bathroom, where honed-marble tile from Decorative Materials covers the floor and shower walls. The sleek tub is by Toto, and the ceiling-mounted showerhead is by Waterworks.

Photography: Ric Stovall

Clerestory windows above the limestone-clad wall bring light into the master bathroom while maintaining it as a private oasis. Hanging above the Duravit Starck tub is a cloud fixture by Ted Abramczyk, purchased through Ralph Pucci.

Photography: Karyn Millet

Interior Designer Annette English and Architect William Hefner envisioned the master bathroom as a serene retreat. The freestanding sculptural Americh tub and a water-jet-cut limestone floor create a tranquil experience for the clients. A Jonathan lounge by Oly pairs with a 1960s Doria Leuchten light from Collage 20th Century Classics in Dallas.

Photography: Grey Crawford

Sea grass honed limestone countertops by Meta Marble & Granite from Architectural Stone Werkes and porcelain tile from Pental Granite & Marble bring a sense of serenity to the master bathroom. A painting by Allison Collins hangs above the Kohler tub. The Kohler sinks with Grohe faucets are from Keller Supply Company.

Photography: Benjamin Woolsey

The owners worked with Claudio Ramos of Banks | Ramos Architectural Lighting Design to select light fixtures, including the master bathroom's Bocci pendant, throughout the home. TBC Plaster Artisans executed the plaster walls. The tub is by Waterworks.

Photography: Paul Dyer

In the master bathroom, Linsteadt designed matching vanities, which are constructed from white oak. The wall-mounted faucet is by Dornbracht, and the floor's limestone pavers are from Exquisite Surfaces.

Photography: Paul Dyer

The water Monopoly's Cateau tub—with a Rohl tub filler from Clyde Hardware Co.—sports a pitted-pewter finish and provides a focal point in the master bathroom. The flooring is composed of rectangular antique-limestone pavers; the drapery fabric is by Rose Tarlow Melrose House.

Photography: Nick Johnson

The bathroom walls and floor are clad in limestone, while the tub deck is made of green marble, all from ABC Worldwide Stone. The window allows bathers to soak up the mountain views.

Photography: Christiaan Blok

A carpet from Flokati Rugs in Jersey City, New Jersey, is juxtaposed with sleek surfaces, such as limestone flooring from Stone Source and walls clad with tiles from Ann Sacks, in the spa-like master bathroom. A fixture from Arteriors illuminates the scene, which includes a Kohler bathtub purchased from Moore Supply Company.

Photography: Paul Finkel

The master bathroom's tufted bench from Back Home provides a place for respite. A custom mirror hangs over cabinetry made of rift-sawn white oak and featuring hardware from Alexander Marchant. Caesarstone countertops from Architectural Tile & Stone reside with sinks by Kohler and faucets by Hansgrohe, all from Moore Supply Company.

Photography: Paul Finkel

The simena limestone counters by EuroStar Marble & Granite and woodwork by 1050 Commercial Architectural Woodworking in the master bath mimic the linear forms seen in the kitchen

Photography: Mark Roskams

The master bathroom's neutral palette gives the room a sanctuary-like feel. The floors and tub surround are limestone and Delos Mosaics glass and stone tiles, from Decorative Materials, line the niches created to house candles.

Photography: David O. Marlow

Sheer Calvin Fabrics draperies flank the master bathroom's sleek Victoria + Albert tub from Clyde Hardware. French limestone floors and handmade tile walls join with a distressed side table and antique iron candle pillars to add warmth to the space.

Photography: Laura Moss

Spa-like in its refinement, the master bathroom is a symphony of soft colors and smooth textures—including limestone flooring, a marine-finished, teak-wrapped tub and bench, and a delicately patterned Emma Gardner rug.

Photography: Ken Hayden

Sea grass-colored limestone grounds the master bath, where French white melamine laminate cabinets by Cottonwood Fine Kitchen Furniture and countertops from Terrazzo & Marble Supply Companies fashion a soothing palette. The wool rug is from Room & Board.

Photography: Eric Hausman

The master bathroom features a rich mix of materials, including a Pompeii gold limestone countertop, a wenge-and-teak vanity and a zebrawood mirror.

Photography: Grey Crawford

The master bath feels as if completely carved of pristine white stone; even the ceiling is clad in Portuguese limestone, fabricated by Stone Shop. Bleached mahogany cabinets fashion a custom vanity designed by Himmel.

Photography: Tony Soluri

The home's suites have luxurious master bathrooms with custom cabinetry, limestone countertops and Nobilus hardware. Many of the decorative touches came from local sources, such as a vintage wooden ladder from Alpine Furniture Company and the mirror from The Frame Shoppe.

Photography: Kimberly Gavin

In this master bathroom, glass mosaic tile by Walker Zanger wraps the walls, complemented by limestone flooring and silver travertine countertops.

Photography: Dominique Vorillon

From their elegant Cheviot slipper tub, the homeowners can view the front garden, where Rothkopf cleaned up the overgrowth to showcase the desert flora, including pines, cacti and agave. The acacia wood stool is from Tucker Robbins; the limestone-tiled flooring from Fractured Earth Tile & Stone.

Photography: Joshua Klein

Custom painted V-groove, flat-panel overlay cabinetry from Heartwood Custom Woodworks anchors a dramatic set of wire-brushed windows by Architectural Traditions. A Dornbracht fixture fills a Kohler tub from Ferguson in Dallas. Hillsboro limestone countertops are from Colorado Marble & Granite.

Photography: Peter and Kelly Gibeon

Abrams clad the master bath walls with a limestone and glass mosaic from The Tile Gallery. “The most difficult part was carrying the new tub up the stairs,” recalls Charlie Vargas, of Charlie’s Painting & Handyman Home Service, who helped Abrams execute the modified rehab of the space

Photography: Scott Shigley

Creme Europa limestone and sleek fixtures give this bath room it's modern yet warm look.

Photography: Emily Minton Redfield

This contemporary black bathroom features a sculptural limestone sink. Sconces light the space and accent the limestone's elegant design.

Photography: Nathan Kirkman

The airy master bath is sleek with kicks of pattern from mosaic wall tiles and Nova Blue limestone floors, both from Fractured Earth Tile & Stone. The Caesarstone countertop is fitted with Kohler's Antilia Wading Pool basins from Ferguson. Custom cabinetry is from Bulthaup.

Photography: William Lesch

Pompeii gold limestone frames a Japanese soaking tub in the master bathroom. Outside, Berman integrated a serene water feature into the landscape, which he designed to be textured and drought-tolerant.

Photography: Grey Crawford

Aquatic's Serenity 2 soaking tub with Kohler's IV Georges Brass tub filler is the focal point in the master bath. The Lagos Azul limestone tile floor is inset with mosaic from Waterworks' Architectonics Collection. The walls are covered in Phillip Jeffries' Damask Print Manila Hemp.

Photography: Gordon Beall

A freestanding slab-like tub from Wetstyle is placed on Walker Zanger limestone tile in the light-flooded master bath, giving the space an open, spa-like feel. A spiral metal-and-leather stool from Neiman Marcus drops an architectural hint.

Photography: Matthew Millman

The pristine master bath features Roche Blue limestone flooring from Facings of America. A tub and faucet from Clyde Hardware Co. create the focal point of the space, while artwork from Z Gallerie references the outdoors.

Photography: Michael Baxter

The limestone selected for the master bath flooring, from Architectural Design Resource, was the inspiration for this serene space. The Moonstone wallcovering from Phillip Jeffries provides the ideal backdrop for a tub and its fixtures, both purchased at Morrison Supply Company.

Photography: Tria Giovan